

VISIT...

LANZAROTE
Caliente.COM

DESCRIPTION

Tips for Using Sensory Language

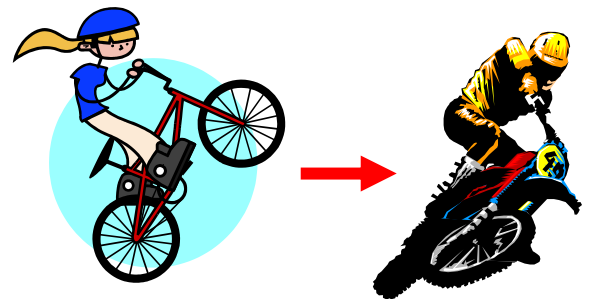

- Sensory language includes descriptive language that appeals to the five senses of sight, sound, touch, taste, and smell.

- Appeal to as many senses as possible.
- Try to make your readers feel as if they are experiencing the sensations directly.

- Use comparisons to help the reader feel what you are picturing.

- Choose your sensory language carefully to make sure it accurately portrays the subject.